POLICE COURT.

There Was a Short Session This Morning—Peace Warrant Dismissed.

Several Breaches of the Peace Charges Were Considered.

Harry Allen and Sam Foreman were arrested last night on a peace warrant, sworn out by Lee Rust, one of the petit juries, who was mixed up in a gambling scrape at the former's establishment a few months ago.
It seems that Rust had been imposed on by some practical joker, and there was no danger of the defendants doing him any harm and they had made no threats against him. The warrant was dismissed. The Harry Allen in the warrant is not grocer.

Oscar Warnick, for a breach of the peace, was fined $5 and costs.

Sarah Anderson, of color, was fined $1 and costs for a breach of the peace.

W. F. Poe was fined $1 and costs for a breach of the peace.

Will Smith, colored, for being drunk, was fined $1 and costs.

VERY SENSATIONAL.

Man Roused From His Slumbers at Paris, Tenn., and Whipped.

It Was Administered to Improve His Morals—Was a Success.

Information of a sensational occurrence at Paris, Tenn., last night was brought to the city by passengers on the train today.

A party of six men, armed, went to the Caldwell hotel, one of the largest in the city, and roused from his peaceful slumbers N. A. Vandeeman, of Indianapolis, Ind., representing the Enterprise Foundry Co., and taking him to the home of a negress named Cora Vandewick, his alleged paramour, retired to a secluded spot and severely whipped both of them.

The kuklux then went to the house of another negress supposed to be living with a white man, but the man had fled. The woman was treated to a severe thrashing, and resisted, firing several shots, but none of them took effect.

The white man was badly humiliated, and is said to be hiding out hoping to get away from the city.
His conduct was said to have been such that the citizens generally approve of the method adopted to stop it.

DEBOE DISGUSTED.

Could Not Harmonize the Republican Factions in Louisville.

The Republicans of the Second District Will Tell Their Tale of Woe in Court.

Yesterday's Courier-Journal says: United States Senator Deboe left for his home at Marion yesterday, convinced that he is not a harmonizer.
He failed to reunite the warring republican factions in Louisville. He also failed to secure any degree of harmony between the warring factions in the Second district.

Wednesday night Senator Deboe and the Hon. E. T. Frank met in Dr. A. D. James' room at the Hotel Victoria. Senator Deboe wanted to have either Mr. George W. Jolly or Mr. W. T. Fowler withdraw from the race for congress in the Second district. The conference was absolutely barren of results.

A well known republican, who knew all about the conference, said yesterday: "Senator Deboe's efforts to secure harmony accomplished nothing. The facts are the Jolly or Fowler factions are farther apart than ever before. The matter will now be taken into the courts, where it will be decided whether Mr. Jolly or Mr. Fowler will be allowed to go on the ballot under the republican emblem. Senator Deboe has given up the matter in disgust. He may not even return to attend the state central committee meeting next Thursday."
